

The 2006 Uniya Seminar Series

GOOD NEIGHBOUR, BAD NEIGHBOUR

What's the difference? Australia's relations with Indonesia

The 2006 series will focus on Australia's relationship with Indonesia. People prominent in this area will be brought together to unpack the complexity of this relationship and to suggest ways forward for better relations.

Questions include: Do we have to choose between pragmatism and principles? What values do we share? Who decides what makes a good neighbour?

August 2006

in Melbourne, Wollongong, Sydney and Adelaide

The Uniya Seminar Seminars were first held in 1999 to mark 150 years of Jesuit work in Australia. Presented by Uniya Jesuit Social Justice Centre, they are given annually and focus on topical social justice issues. Speakers have included judges, lawyers and business leaders as well as academics, researchers, policy-makers and advocates.
